

3rd Euro Nursing & Medicare Summit

July 27-29, 2015 Valencia, Spain

The evalation of the women who made their first marriage under eighteen and are still married with the same person's marriage adaptation

SezerKisa

Gaziantep University, Turkey

Objective: Research had been done as partial and definitional with the aim of the evalation of women whom made their first marriage under eighteen and are still married with the same person's marriage adaptation and the factors which affect their marriage adaptains.

Methods: From two thousand women applied to Bitlis city public hospital birth women service which consists of the earth of research. It is counted two hundred forty-six women who will be taken examples. As a collecting information tool, poll from and scale of marriage adaptation was used. Poll from consists of three parts. At the first part, the feathers of women and their husband 'ssocio_demographic, at these condpart the questins about women's pregnancy and birth; at the third part the questions about the factors which can affect women's marriage adaptation. Poll from and EUÖ had been applied in the dates between 1 July and 31 October 2014. The informations from research had been evaluated SPSS for windows 18 in computer programme with average, standart deviation, minimum and maximum values, percentage numbers, t-test, one way Anova test.

Results: With EUÖ number avarages which definites marriage adaptations of women, the duration of women's marriage, the types of marriage, the determination of marriage, the situation of physical severity, the difference of pregnancy number are important as statistic paint. As a result, it had been defined low of women's marriage adaptation (EUÖ paint average 37.79).

Conclusions: According to the results of research, suggestions about preventing marriage at earlier ages and increasing women's marriage adaptation had been developed.

Biography

SezerKisa, MSN, PhD, is in associated professor at Gazi University Faculty of Health Sciences Department of Nursing, Ankara, and an associated professor at the University of Gazi.

Notes: