

10th International Conference on

Chinese Medicine, Ayurveda & Acupuncture

March 04-05, 2019 | Berlin, Germany

Adrian Angel Inchauspe

National University of La Plata, Argentina

New Advances in the reconciliation vessel's research

Analyzing the properties of the reconciliation vessel, new questions raised about the origin of this Wondrous Circuit, as well as its configuration through the philosophical and cosmological basis of Traditional Chinese Medicine. Scrutinizing its location within Fu Hsi's octogram and according to the I-Ching and Yellow Emperor's coincidences in Ling Shu and Su Wen quotations, a plausible explanation rose up from a detailed methodological work embodied in this paper. Author's experience in cardiopulmonary revivals over thirty years takes to ponder his prospect of this situation from various angles, arising the comparison between legal, real and energy deaths against the possibility of more widespread recovery after terminal diagnosis.

Biography

Adrian Angel Inchauspe was certified as laparoscopic surgeon in La Plata, Buenos Aires, Aachen, Tübingen and Strasbourg Universities. Currently, he serves as Editorial Member and Reviewer in many foreign renowned journals. He participated as Chairman in several International Drug Discovery Congresses and in the 2nd International Conference and Exhibition on Traditional Medicine-2014 in Beijing, where he proposed the foundation of the World Union of Traditional Medicines. Since 2005, he serves as teacher in the Argentina Acupuncture Society and published his "Systematized Integration of Acupunctural Therapeutic Knowledge" book in 2014. He has been searching about Yongquan resuscitation in the last 28 years.

adrian.inchauspe@yahoo.com.ar