Transcultural nursing for practice in EU: Project of cultural diversity

The demand for nurses to possess knowledge and skills are necessary to care for all patients who seek help from the health care services. Transcultural nursing has focused on understanding cultures and their specific care needs and how to provide care that fits their lifestyles rather than assuming professional nurses always knowing what is best for them. Positive transcultural communication style of nurses leads to establishment of trust, increasing satisfaction of care and higher quality interactions between nurses and patients. The project transcultural nursing for practice (TNP) from EU focused on developing coherent, comprehensive and easily accessible information, which deals with the specifics of individual cultures focused primarily on treating patients of different cultures in health care facilities like multicultural nursing. Transcultural health care screening questionnaire was created to evaluate the term culture all over the participants in this Erasmus program TNP, (Israel, Cyprus, Denmark, Czech Republic, Spain and Turkey). The questions evaluate cultural care beliefs, values and lifestyles of people to help them to maintain and regain their health and lifestyles. Each European country should include culture diversity in their health system in order to promote cultural care to maintain their health.
