Community nursing is a health care sector study focused on caring for individuals, families and communities in order to achieve maintain or recover optimal health and quality of life. Nurses can be differentiated from other providers of health care by their commitment to patient care, education and practice context. Nurses work with different levels of prescribing authority in many specialties. Most nurses provide treatment within the physicians' ordering context, and this traditional role has influenced the nurses' public image as care providers. We are pleased to announce that the 2nd International conference on Community Nursing and Public Health will be held from September 24-25, 2021 at the Abu Dhabi, UAE.
