Editorial

I am happy to disclose that Journal of Journal of Cosmetology & Trichology is an open access scientific journal and that gave me chance to bring forward the achievements of the journal in the year 2019. We published quite a lot of papers in the year 2019, in 2019 these discoveries were new. The ISSN of JCTT is 2471-9323 and publisher of JCTT is Hilaris publisher.

The Journal of JCTT published Research, original articles, review articles, short review, case reports, case studies, case series, short communications in the field of Journal of Cosmetology & Trichology. Cosmetology is the research and practice of techniques to beautify the head, the face and the hair. Specialty divisions include hairstyling, coloring, perming, scalp procedures, skin care, makeup, manicures, pedicures, waxing, facial treatments, and massages. Trichology is the dermatology division that specializes in studying hair and scalp protection. The Journal of Cosmetology and Trichology gathers data as original paper, summary papers, case notes, brief correspondence, etc., from a reputable source of knowledge about observations and new developments. This consists of information about new technologies and the use of various cosmetics. JCTT has gaining more readers and citations. JIDP covers a large range of publications which is why this journal's coverage is not limited. Authors can submit manuscripts via the electronic monitoring program and can follow their progress, ideally for release. For any cumulative publicly publishable documentation spans 45 days from the date of receipt. The time span is taken from 4 to 5 weeks for different procedures including quality control, peer review and paper preparation. Performance assessments and peer review procedures are finished within 14 days, and publication deadlines are just 7 days after the reviewers and editors have agreed. In JCTT received 2 research articles, 1 review article, 1 short commentary and 1 case report issue 1 of volume 5 and organized 15th World Conference on Cosmetic Dermatology & Skin Diseases in Lisbon, Portugal. Journal uses internet streaming and various social media platforms such as Instagram, LinkedIn and Facebook to make people aware of the relevant topics relating to Cosmetology and Trichology and the latest information about what's going on in the study. I would like to recognize the participation of all authors, readers and other helpful audiences in the final editing of the written papers, and the assistance received by the editorial assistant in the timely resolution of JIDP issues. I am very thankful to them for helping me consider the research and growth of other peoples who make this newspaper a success.
